

Love to help end Polio

"I can't hear you with all this noise. Would you mind staying behind afterwards to tell me what you know about how the fight started." What a chat up line! But it was the sentence that changed my life uttered by the man I went on to marry.

When getting to know people I have always been fascinated at the responses I get to that treasure of a question "How did you meet?". I have been blown away by the stories told; romance (obviously!), comedy, crisis and pure cheek ... all types of human love adventure unfold.

Our dream is to compile a book of these new beginnings, from the most incredible to the every day, the stories that you couldn't invent, they just happen and change the course of lives.

The Polio vaccine also changes lives. In countries where polio still exists it gives children the chance of life without the fear of being crippled. Our book will be sold in aid of Rotary International's End Polio Now campaign.

Please help bring joy, laughter and tears to others. To the people who will buy and read this planned book and to the children whose lives will be without the threat of Polio.

All you need to do is send our E-Rotary club your stories of how you and your partner met and about the pivotal moment that changed the course of your lives.

For further information and to submit your stories email janice.mason@1100rotaryclub.org

